To Whom It May Concern:

Southern Roof Center is a wholesale supplier of roofing and building products serving contractors in Georgia and North Florida. We are very proud to have been a supplier to Georgia Roofing and Metals Company over the course of their amazing fifty years in the roofing business. Our relationship is not just contractor-supplier; it is a partnership.

Georgia Roofing and Metals Company opened a trade account with John McDaniel which became JGA and is currently JGA Beacon (Beacon Roofing Supply-Parent Company) over fifty years ago and has maintained a flawless payment record ever since. We know of very, very few roof contracting firms in this country who can claim this kind of a solid, stable business background.

We realize there are many reasons Georgia Roofing and Metals Company has maintained a stellar reputation for over five decades, but believe the Bramlett family's dedication to quality workmanship and their clients' needs is the hallmark of this remarkable enterprise. Today we celebrate their continued success toward the next fifty years and appreciate that they continue to do business with JGA Beacon.

Sincerely,
